Johanna Comella

Production Designer

Biography

Johanna Comella lived and worked as a Production Designer in Los Angeles for many years, after having attended a Master Degree Program in Production Design for Film at the American Film Institute. An education which shows in both the creative and organizational part of her approach to production design.

Later on, she moved back to Stockholm and continued to work full time. Johanna creates construction drawings and illustrations by hand, and is trained in colour theory.

She is a master in all American style and she is comfortable with working on international productions. When you work with Johanna, you can always expect a perfect result. She is known amongst colleagues and her team for being a strong leader with a clear creative vision.
